GREATEST CROWD GOES FRANTIC

Biggest Throng That Ever Watched Ball Game Mobs Lewis When His Single Scores Hooper

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
United Press Staff Correspondent.

BRAVES FIELD, BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 11.—Grover Cleveland Alexander lost the toughest game of his career this afternoon before the biggest crowd that ever saw a professional game in the United States. Boston beat out the big Philly star in a desperate ninth inning finish that sent more than forty thousand people into a frenzy.

Held 'Em Eight Frames
For eight innings Alexander had struggled along, holding the Sox to four hits, while his team-mates were unable to get more than one run off Leonard. In the ninth Hooper, who heretofore had gone hitless, led off with a low liner over second base. Scott, weakest on the Boston attack, sent him to second with a sacrifice, and then came Speaker. This already had got two hits and scored Boston's only run. Alexander was afraid to take a chance and passed the Texas. Hoblitzel died on an easy infield chance. Then came Duffy Lewis, who already had two hits off Alexander. The Californian slammed the first ball pitched for a screaming liner over short, and Hooper came home with the run that put the immense stands on their feet.

It was a game that had the immense throng in a frenzy of excitement almost continually. Alexander, called lucky, was throwing the lie into Boston's very teeth by mowing down the Red Sox batters as a sythe slips through the tall grass. Leonard, for Boston, was going equally as good, striking out Philly sluggers with regularity.

Lewis is Mobbed
Lewis was mobbed as he threw down his bat and hugged Hooper as the latter crossed the plate. Thousands of Bostonians clambered out of the grandstand and crowded around the Californian, while his team-mates fought desperately to get to him. Manager Carrigan threw his arms around Duffy's neck and almost sobbed for joy.

Philadelphia should have had this game, and they would have won it had not Moran wanted to save his big pitcher's strength. In the third inning when the Phillies scored their run, Eddie Burns, Moran's little second catcher had led off with his first single of the series. An error by Hoblitzel gave Alexander a life and put Burns on second. Milton Stock sacrificed them along, and Dave Bancroft came through with a clean Texas leaguer over second that rolled far into center field. Burns was over the plate by the time Speaker had retrieved the ball. Alexander, only a few yards behind, had also rounded third when Moran waved him back, rather than take a chance on Alexander hurting himself in a probable slide. Leonard, however, tightened up and forced Faskert to pop weakly to Barry, and Cravath to fly to Lewis.

They called Alexander lucky for winning Friday's game. If he were lucky, Leonard was doubly so today. Time and again almost superhuman work by Barry and Lewis saved Leonard.

After the third inning Leonard pitched sweet ball. Not a hit was scored off his delivery and only three men faced him to the inning. But the remarkable defense steadily kept up by Speaker, Lewis and Barry was also deserving of some of the glory.

Boston lost no time in tying the score in the fourth. Speaker slammed a triple down the right field foul line, and Hobby sent a long

PLEADS GUILTY TO INDUCING SENDING OF OBSCENE NOTE

Madison Man Fined $500 for Using Mails in Offense Against His Sister-in-Law

William J. Goodfellow, Madison, was late this afternoon fined $500 by Judge A. L. Sanborn for inducing a Madison woman to send an obscene letter to his sister-in-law, Mrs. Nellie Williams of Minneapolis. He pleaded guilty to the charge.

The case marked the opening of United States court at the Federal building here. Assistant District Attorney A. C. Hoppman, Madison, appeared in place of District Attorney John A. Aylward, who will arrive in the city tomorrow morning.

At that time the grand and petit jury will be called.

"The grand jury session," said Assistant District Attorney Hoppman, "will probably be a long one. It is not expected that the work of the petit jury will require much time. Pleas of guilty will be entered in the majority of criminal cases."

BALL KILLS SPECTATOR

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 11.—Thomas Fisher, 5, was instantly killed yesterday when a line drive off the bat struck him over the heart.

FRENCH ISLANDER KILLS SELF WITH STRANGER'S GUN

Death in Kitchen of Woman Neighbor This Afternoon Is Believed Accidental

Jack Brotty, 28, a resident of French Island since April, shot and killed himself, it is believed by accident, in the kitchen of Mrs. Frank Nagle, West La Crosse, at 1:45 this afternoon. The gun with which the shooting was done Brotty took away from an unknown stranger who was brandishing it in Jack Cushman's saloon this morning. At the time he emptied it of all but one cartridge, the police were told today.

The ball from the single cartridge entered the side of his head this afternoon when he was showing the gun to Mrs. Nagle. He died instantly.

Brotty has been camping on the island in a tent near the Goyette boat livery since April, and to residents of the vicinity he displayed signs of despondency. He has a wife and a 5-year-old son living in West Salem. The couple have not lived together for years. Of late Brotty has been employed on cement construction jobs in La Crosse, going over to the island every night. He claims to be about 28 years of age.

SEVEN PINNED BY TURTLE AUTO ARE RESCUED NOT HURT

Heavy Car Goes Over Bank on Top of Passengers and Only One Is Slightly Hurt

EVEN THE CAR IS NOT WRECKED

Is Righted and Drawn Up on Road and Comes Home Under Its Own Power

Seven La Crosse people escaped miraculously unhurt yesterday after they had been pinned beneath a 3,000-pound touring car which turned turtle down an eight foot embankment eight miles out of the city on the South Salem road. Except for a broken fender and shattered windshield, the machine beneath which they were imprisoned also escaped undamaged.

The seven were:

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Green, 211 North Tenth street.
Miss Helen Green.
Miss Ruth Dittman.
Mrs. Walter J. Lowry, 1808 Kane street, and two children.

Girl Driver Cut

Miss Green was the only one of the party, who received any hurts other than bruises and a shaking. She suffered a deep puncture and a cut four inches long on the lower part of her left leg. Both wounds were made by glass from the windshield. Neither is serious.

Miss Green was driving a touring car belonging to her employer, D. S. Fairbairn, home from West Salem about 4:30 yesterday afternoon when the accident happened. She took the side of the road to allow another car to pass, and the weight of the machine crumpled the bank under the wheels.

The car turned a half somersault down the eight-foot bank, coming to rest with all four wheels in the air at the bottom. All of its seven passengers were pinned beneath it. Mrs. Green's head was caught between the edge of the tonneau and the ground.

Crawl Out Safe

The steering post and windshield frame held the front of the machine sufficiently far from the ground that Miss Green could crawl out. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rau, in their car, were just ahead of her on the road, and her cries when she clambered to the top of the bank summoned them.

While Mr. Rau was struggling vainly to lift the heavy car from Mrs. Green's head, Dr. Frank R. Weston and Abel Moore of Onalaska appeared. They jumped from their machines, and with Frank Pierce of Onalaska, who was riding with Mr. Moore, lent their efforts to the attempt to lift the over-turned machine. They succeeded in raising the car, and all six of the imprisoned occupants of the tonneau were drawn forth. None was hurt. Even Mrs. Green, upon whose head the padded edge of the tonneau had rested, was only a little faint.

Mrs. Green and the girl driver were rushed back to La Crosse by Dr. Weston, who dressed Miss Green's cuts at his office.

Car Not Hurt

In the meantime a score of men, with the assistance of a wrecking crew from a local garage, righted the car. It was drawn up the embankment and came home under its own power.

PLAN FOR CARRANZA RECOGNITION IS APPROVED BY THE PRESIDENT ACTION IS EXPECTED THIS WEEK

DOES UPSET IN SOCIAL PLANS OF THE CAPITAL FOREBODE A SURPRISE?

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Are President Wilson and Mrs. Normal Galt planning to surprise the nation?

Here's the evidence:
The president slipped away from the White House today and bought a big wardrobe trunk.

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and Mrs. McAdoo, daughter of the president, who were to leave for the west last Friday, haven't gone yet. Secretary and Mrs. Garrison are returning from Hot Springs, Va., this week, instead of next week, as planned.

Mrs. Daniels, wife of the secretary of the navy, who has been visiting in the south, will return immediately to Washington.

Miss Margaret Wilson, who was not expected to return to the White House until next Friday, will come home immediately.

Only one thing has been learned definitely about the wedding trip and that is it will not be to San Diego. The president today sent a letter to the San Diego school superintendent, saying it seemed impossible for him to accept an invitation there. The petition bore thousands of children's signatures, and when tightly rolled made a paper cylinder nearly a foot in diameter.

BALKAN SITUATION THICKENS AFTER BELGRADE IS TAKEN

Pitched Battles Expected Between Bulgarians and Serbs on Their Frontiers

TEUTONS PRESS INTO SERBIA

Invaders Use Belgrade as Starting Point and Proceed to Overrun Country

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS
United Press Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, Oct. 11.—Fighting between Bulgarians and Serbians massed along their frontiers was momentarily expected today.

The allies continued to land troops at Salonika as fast as possible. They were pushing northward to aid the Serbians.

Germans and Austrians have pressed into Serbia from Belgrade. They were not yet in touch with strong forces of the enemy. The allies hoped to intercept them before a decisive clash occurred.

There has been a battle between Serbians and the Austro-German right wing on the Drina, west of Belgrade. The Serbians claimed an overwhelming victory with heavy Teutonic losses. The Germans denied they had been checked anywhere.

Belgrade was completely in Austro-German hands today. It had been nearly deserted by civilians for weeks but had a Serbian garrison which fought hard in the streets, although it was too weak to last long. The town was much damaged.

Advices from Salonika said that fighting was expected momentarily between Serbians and Bulgarians at that place. 100,000 Serbians, it is understood, are concentrated on the frontier, 20,000 of that number being distributed along the Guevgher-Strumnitza railroad.

Late dispatches from Vienna claimed that Belgrade has been completely rid of armed Serbians and that Austro-German forces are advancing on Serbs in the Macva district and north of Obranocatsch. Serbian claims of a victory on the Drina river have been contradicted by Germany.

General Jekoff, said a Sofia dispatch, who has taken field command of the Bulgarian army, has been succeeded as war minister by General Najdenoff. M. Radoslavoff has become foreign minister.

IDEA IS TO LAY EMBARGO ON ARMS TO THE "REBELS"

Action of Conference Regarded as Most Important Step Since Huerta Was Turned Down

ARMS QUESTION IS PARAMOUNT

All Factions Opposing Carranza Will Probably Be Cut Off from Supplies

VILLISTAS SHOW RESISTANCE

Representatives Still in the Country but Will Probably Be Summarily Ousted

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—President Wilson today approved Secretary Lansing's action Saturday in extending to the Latin-American envoys the recommendation that Carranza be recognized in Mexico and be given the assistance of all countries in bringing about order.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Recognition of the party led by General Carranza as the de facto government in Mexico was unanimously agreed upon Saturday by the Pan-American conference as the step to be recommended to their respective governments.

Secretary Lansing, on behalf of the United States government, expressed its intention to recognize General Carranza, and the ambassadors of Brazil, Chile, Argentina and the ministers of Bolivia, Uruguay and Guatemala transmitted the decision of the Washington government, as well as their opinion in agreement with it.

Mr. Lansing had obtained the approval of President Wilson to the plan before the conference began and all the other ministers in the Latin-American corps also had given adherence to it.

The action of the conference was regarded generally as the most important diplomatic step in the Mexican situation since the United States decided to withhold recognition from the Huerta government, more than two years ago.

It means that the Carranza government will receive the moral support of the United States.

Will Bar Munitions
Formal steps towards recognition of the Carranza government in Mexico were taken today.

It is an imposition of the munitions embargo against Villa and other anti-Carranza factions, planned for this week. Hereafter all Carranza opponents will be officially classed as "rebels."

Although the Villista junta representatives showed no signs of departure today, it was learned the administration will expel all rebellious agencies and agents. The president will not permit foes of Carranza to use this country as a base for continuing hostile propaganda.

The president and Secretary Lansing were undecided today regarding the exact form immediate recognition of Carranza shall take. They will either formally notify Eliso Arredondo, Carranza's chief junta or appoint a new staff at the American embassy in Mexico. It is not believed Nelson O'Shaughnessy, former secretary, will be returned.

Lind Suggested as Envoy

Among those mentioned for the ambassadorship are Paul Fuller, Consul Silliman and Shacklin, and former Governor John Lind of Minnesota. The latter was especially favored because he has always staunchly recommended Carranza, and it is believed would have peculiar influence with the first chief in reconstruction work.

Villa agents today declared the recognition of Carranza will be the signal for the most furious fighting of the revolution. They assert Villa is mobilizing his armies in Sonora and rushing munitions across the border before the expected embargo is ordered. Future battles, Carranza announced, will be regarded as lawless outbreaks.

Details regarding the method of recognizing Carranza were not settled at today's conference, the president and Secretary Lansing explained. It is understood a proclamation is contemplated to inform European powers after a concerted plan with

SPARTA SCHOOLS CLOSED THIS WEEK

Heating Plant Is Not Yet Finished but Football Practice Goes On

SPARTA, Wis., Oct. 11.—(Special.)—There will be no school in the high or central ward building this week. It was at first decided to open them again Tuesday but after careful consideration it was thought impractical to run the schools under the existing conditions. The installation of a new heating plant which was started shortly before school opened is being rushed and it is hoped that it will be in working order by the end of this week. Heating the rooms with old heaters proved a failure. Their rapid consumption of the air caused the sessions to be shortened.

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

MISS SINBAD

BY CLARISSA MACKIE

Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Vale Benson was fishing off Bass Rocks when the brisk little motor boat whisked under his very nose and darted away around the point.

"There goes Miss Sinbad, the Sailor," he chuckled at the nickname given to the saucy owner of the launch. "And by jove, she's running off with my line."

The reel was spinning merrily and the line sang a tune as it ran tautly after the vanishing boat. Vale's hook and sinker were caught in the propeller of the little craft.

"Hi, there!" he shouted. Miss Sinbad did not turn around. "Hi, there! Miss Sinbad!" he yelled in desperation.

The brown head turned, the boat swung a wide circle and came about. The line slackened as the boat approached and paused rockingly at his feet.

A pair of big, brown eyes looked up into his.

"You called me?" she asked sternly.

"Why—why, yes—you are running off with my line," he explained, pointing downward.

"Oh, I didn't know—I am very sorry. Can you come down and get it off?" she asked crisply.

"I'll try." He clambered down the rocks and stood beside her, realizing with a little shock of surprise that the girl was wonderfully good to look at; she was rarely lovely under the delicate coat of tan. A brilliant color flushed her cheeks.

It took him half an hour to disentangle the line from the propeller; this was quite unnecessary, for, as she patiently explained to him, if he would only do this and so it would come off; but Vale obstinately failed to do this and so, suddenly becoming very dense.

At last it was off and Miss Sinbad was free to pursue her way. During the half hour Vale had learned that she lived in the red gabled house at the extreme point.

"Red Gables. Why, that is where Freda Frake, the writer, lives. I suppose that is her secretary—or, by jove, it's Miss Frake herself; doesn't look as though she could write such strong stories as I've been buying from her for the past ten years. Ten years! Why, ten years ago Miss Sinbad must have been in pinafores. As Freda Frake's publisher, I hereby appoint myself a committee of one to call upon her. It is my bounden duty!"

Quite contented at this prospect, Vale resumed his fishing and did not feel a qualm of disappointment when he trudged back to the hotel with an empty basket.

All that evening he dreamed of Miss Sinbad's brown eyes and flushed cheeks, of the dimple in her chin and the soft curve of her face. How lovable she was! And to think that she should turn out to be Freda Frake, that mysterious writer of fascinating romances whose stories he had eagerly bought for his magazine, but whose personal identity was a mystery to him and his staff.

"Tomorrow," he told himself, "I will call upon her. Who says there is no romance in this workaday world?"

When the morning came it was a perfect October day, with the ocean a-smother of white foam under a clear blue sky. The wind blew freshly and the walk out to the end of the Point brought the young publisher all too soon at the end of his journey.

Red Gables was surrounded by a high stone wall and the gate was opened by a servant in livery, who directed him along a flagged walk to a pergola, where purpling grapes were hanging in the sunshine.

Seated at a table under the vines was an enormously stout woman writing rapidly in a leather covered book. She glanced at the card the servant placed before her and rose with a cordial smile.

"Mr. Benson! I have always hoped to meet you some day," she cried with outstretched hand.

"Miss Frake?" he altered.

"Yes, of course—but how could you know me?" she laughed. "Sit down here. James, serve tea at once."

An hour later Vale took farewell of the popular authoress and without one glimpse of Miss Sinbad he left Red Gables and wended his way down to the shore.

"I wonder what she meant by telling me she lived at Red Gables?" he muttered resentfully as he passed a group of cosy little cottages on the sandy slope.

He glanced casually at the last one and stopped abruptly. It was a white pointed cottage with a red roof and window boxes glowing with late scarlet geraniums. On the gate was the neat sign, "Red Gables," and coming down the steep steps was Miss Sinbad herself, a white duck hat on her brown head, her dark eyes dancing with pleasure.

"So this is Red Gables!" exclaimed Vale, and then at her amused glance he went on recklessly. "I've been calling on Miss Frake—I thought you lived there?"

"Such a pity—and such a difference," she sighed. "We're not a bit literary at our Red Gables—just plain everyday folks."

"I like everyday folks," interrupted Vale enthusiastically. "They're easy to get on with."

"That's nice of you," she smiled as they went down to the shore. "Father's a painter—he's down there painting my boat. That's mother in the white sunbonnet—she's holding the paint—she's always around where father is."

Vale saw a tall, bearded man in paint-splashed overalls plying a brush vigorously, and near him stood a slender little woman holding a big pail of paint.

"Oh, Jean," called the woman, as the girl approached.

Benson thrilled at the name. It was his favorite of names for women.

"Coming, mother! And I'm bringing a sort of celebrity—I know it's

GERMANS CAPTURE FRENCH TRENCHES

Paris Admits Reverses, Although Teutons Have Been Repulsed Otherwise, It Is Claimed

PARIS, Oct. 11.—Germans captured part of a first line French trench near Leintz Friday night in the course of a series of reconnaissance attacks, it was officially admitted today.

Otherwise, it was stated, the attacks were repulsed.

The position is in Parroy forest, in French Lorraine.

In the western Argonne the French batteries silenced a German bombardment of the Gallis trenches.

Tremendous German losses in the Kaiser's offensive around Loos Friday were shown in today's official summary of results. The Germans were described as attacking in three dense lines, followed by many columns. The French artillery wiped them all out.

Throughout Friday night there was occasional intense cannonading along the Lihons, Quenneviers and Nouvron sectors.

East of the Navarin farm the Germans made a fierce counter attack which was repulsed.

The same fate met similar German rushes against the positions south of Tahure, taken by the French on Friday.

And the Right Quality. An ounce of prevention is usually worth a pound of cure, even if it is short weight.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

forbidden, but he somehow walked into my life and I had to bring him along." She laughed gayly and introduced Vale, and as her father swung around the two men leaped toward each other with outstretched hands.

"Hammond!" exclaimed Vale heartily. "Dick Hammond!"

"Vale Benson," cried the painter, "where did you run across my girl?"

Vale explained while Mrs. Hammond murmured dismay at Jean's daring, near-lying ways.

He stayed to dinner and afterward talked to Jean in the tiny porch while Mrs. Hammond played accompaniments and her big husband sang in a rich bass voice that thrilled his listeners.

"To think you should prove to be one of father's friends," said Jean laughingly.

"You said your father was a painter, but I did not dream he was the famous marine painter I am proud to call my friend," he reminded her.

"Oh, dear! It's nice to be plain, everyday folk," she pouted.

"Once upon a time I saw you—you were only five then, and I was fifteen—You promised to marry me," he teased her.

But Jean had vanished into the house and he saw her no more that night. "But tomorrow is another day," he told himself gayly as he went back to the hotel.

Tomorrow is always another day for lovers. Tomorrow he would see Miss Sinbad once more. And the next day would be another day. And then would come the great day when Jean would agree to give up being plain folks and agree to marry a celebrity.

"Miss Freda Frake shall be the bridesmaid," he chuckled.

TRAIN BANDITS STILL AT LARGE

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 11.—On receipt of word from Sistersville, W. Va., that a posse with bloodhounds had found the trail of the train bandits who held up a Baltimore & Ohio train near Centralia, a special train was rushed to Sistersville this afternoon with fifty heavily armed detectives aboard.

Posse Unsuccessful. PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 11.—Poses from Parkersburg, who were searching for the Baltimore & Ohio train bandits, who secured, it is reported, a million dollars in currency, returned to Parkersburg today without having located any of the bandits.

Lost $100,000. WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—A statement by the postoffice department today reduces the maximum loss by the West Virginia train robbery yesterday morning to less than $100,000. There were 151 packages on the train, of which the bandits took 90. In 118 packages were bank notes aggregating a little over $100,000 and in the other thirty-three miscellaneous matter not of great value.

Whether or not the bandits got any of the miscellaneous packages by mistake is not known.

HIGH DEBATERS ARE FOR RETURN OF MR. WOODROW WILSON

Woodrow Wilson's policies and record received the endorsement of the Lincoln-Douglas Debating society at the high school Friday night, when the affirmative team won after the liveliest debate of the season. Dickens and Bunge beat Davis and McConnell. The tenth birthday banquet of the L. D. will be held November 12.

The Wendell-Phillips society decided that the Wisconsin legislature should adopt two more normal schools. The verdict was two to one for the affirmative. McLachlan and Ross, against Sanders and Peterman of the negative.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—A statement by the postoffice department today reduces the maximum loss by the West Virginia train robbery yesterday morning to less than $100,000. There were 151 packages on the train, of which the bandits took 90. In 118 packages were bank notes aggregating a little over $100,000 and in the other thirty-three miscellaneous matter not of great value.

Whether or not the bandits got any of the miscellaneous packages by mistake is not known.

WE MAY NOT DEFY CHANGE

Very plausible was the warning of Prof. Charles Zueblin, in his address at the High school auditorium, that billions spent by this government for "preparedness" in anticipation of war would be wasted, because the fighting machinery of today will be obsolete—junk—e'er war can overtake us.

The publicist's idea of "preparedness" was an "army of peace" in the ranks of which every citizen shall give a year to making this a homogeneous nation with national ideals upon which true patriotism can grow. The army of peace was not to drill, not to "jingo," to be devoted to construction rather than to destruction. However, the speaker cast an anchor to windward. Every "peace soldier" was to be taught to shoot.

Possibly a future war would find the rifle as much as an anachronism as present-day battle-ships. Even now no man for whom a machine gun can be provided is given a rifle. In the next year mausers may be as out of use as the family album with its picture of a friend of Aunt Mary and a young man who probably was the one she kept company with in '61.

DELIVER US
 FROM STAGNATION

If there were nothing else in its record or its prospects to represent service to the community, the coming appearance of John Masefield in La Crosse furnishes the normal school's lecture course with a sufficient reason for existence. When we go back over winters past and see what manner of men and entertainment the course has presented to us, and supplement the retrospect with consideration of this year's promise, we begin to feel that the normal course deserves not only our support but our gratitude.

We are somewhat out of the main stream of mental progress in La Crosse, although we can lay the blame with good show of reason on our geographical location and not on personal unwillingness. With business advance and current incident we are in touch, but the wires of our press associations do not trouble with art and literature except in the vaguest, most empirical way. It is the danger of the small city that its people may find themselves stagnant in a cultural backwater, drifting round and round with no new inspiration, while the ever-fresh current of world-thought runs by out of reach.

From such a stagnation our deliverance can come only by some such means as the normal lecture course. When carefully chosen, as the normal course has always been, it dips from the wide stream freshening influences to set us in motion with the rest of the great world that otherwise we cannot personally touch. The prominent figures of the normal course can give us the step to which the world is moving.

CAN STATE LICENSE
KILLING OF U. S. BIRDS?

The theory under which the United States migratory bird law was formulated is that ducks and other related water fowl are federal property since they pass from state to state and remain permanently in none. They are in effect, under the theory, "interstate traffic." Hence the national government assumes their control.

This theory, now accepted as part of the fabric of legal principles which governs us, in a measure up-sets the older theory that each state is the owner of the game within its borders. Under the theory laid down in the Weeks law, there is vested in the individual states only the title to such game as has permanent habitat inside the state lines.

But without a license from the state one may not hunt. The rule applies not only to the state's home game, but also to Uncle Sam's ducks.
 Perhaps it is an immaterial point, but can the states issue licenses to kill Uncle Sam's ducks? Ought there not to be a federal migratory bird license, good in all the states?

Big Bill Thompson, coaxing the nomination lightning, put Chicago's Sunday hat on, thus affording the first example of a presidential boom launched on a Sahara.

"World Serious" betting seems to have vanished into the limbo of forgotten sports with croquet and playing the parlor organ.

It does not take an expensive trainer to make any old dog a thorough flea-hound.

Unlicensed Badger Nimrods in Minnesota are evidently hunting trouble.

It is said that even the Chicago river was not very liquid yesterday.

If Big Bill's Sunday lid fits Chicago it may get a little large for Bill.

SECOND ATTEMPT SUCCESSFUL

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—Three boys, armed with automatic revolvers, early today walked into the Center street station of the Northwestern elevated and told the cashier he was "stuck up."

"Eh," said he, and dodging to the floor, he grabbed a pistol and started shooting at the trio. They fled.
 They reappeared five minutes later at the Oak street station, where they successfully held up the cashier for $2.

ENGLISH SHIP TORPEDOED

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The British steamship Thorwood, 3184 tons, has been sunk by a German submarine but the crew was saved, the admiralty announced today.

Quips and Cranks
and Wanton Wiles

The Subject Eternal
 They harp upon it every day,
 And have for decades past;
 Of all the corner arguments, It is the first and last.

It hangs around like Banquo's ghost,
 And won't be scared away; It is the thing they argue most Throughout the entire fray.

Nobody understands it well,
 And most folks not at all;
 But still it is the subject on Which all the speakers bawl.

They've fought it out for many months, They've argued day and night;
 But still it doesn't seem as though They'll ever fix it right.

They're at it once again today, They will forget it never;
 For men may come and men may go, But war goes on forever.

Missouri Needed Showing Strickland Gillilan, the lecturer, and the man who pole vaulted into fame by his "Off Ag'in, On ag'in, Fin-nigh'n" verses, was about to deliver a lecture in a small Missouri town. He asked the chairman of the committee whether he might have a small pitcher of ice water on the platform table.

"To drink?" queried the committeeman.
 "No," answered Gillilan. "I do a high diving act."

Policeman on the Job
 The motor car shot down the hill at the speed of an express train and then overturned, pinning the driver beneath it. The village policeman approached pompously. "It's no use your hiding under there," he said sternly to the half smothered driver.
 "You were exceeding the speed limit, and I must have your name and address."

Startling and True School No. 4 usually began the day with a discussion of current events or items of world interest.
 "Do you know any current events today?" asked the teacher, brightly.
 One little boy raised his hand excitedly.
 "Well, Jake," encouraged the teacher.
 "They shot a lady in the C. & O. yards yesterday for stealing coal."— Harper's Magazine.

 The minister was dining with the Fullers, and he was denouncing the new styles of dancing. Turning to the daughter of the house, he asked sternly:
 "Do you yourself, Miss Fuller, think the girls who dance these dances are right?"
 "They must be," was the answer.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to flush Kidneys if Back hurts or Bladder bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

'Twas Ever Thus
 "Gertrude," asked the teacher,
 "what were the causes of the Revolutionary war?"

"It had something to do with automobiles, but I did not understand just what," answered Gertrude.
 "Oh, no!" said the teacher, "that was before the day of automobiles."
 "Well, it was said it was on account of unjust taxis," said Gertrude, firmly.—Harper's Magazine.

Her Exact Age
 An aged woman by the name of Samantha Skaggs, who for many years had resided near Ripley, Ill., and was known by her numerous descendants and all the people of the countryside as Grandmother Skaggs, was compelled to go to court to testify as a witness in a lawsuit over a disputed will.

"Mrs. Skaggs," said the attorney for the defense, in cross-examining her, "may I ask how old you are?"
 "Do I have to tell that, judge?" she said, appealing to the court.
 "Why, yes, madam," replied the judge. "It's a proper question, and at your time of life you surely need not be sensitive about your age."
 "Well," she answered, "I'm 97." But she told it with evident embarrassment and reluctance.
 She knew that everybody in the neighborhood believed her to be 100.

Not in Mrs. Webster's Class "Look here," said the head of the firm, addressing the new stenographer, "this letter is all wrong. Your punctuation is very bad, and your spelling is worse. I can't afford to send out any such stuff to my clients." "Well," she replied, "I'm sorry if my work don't suit you, but was you expecting to get a Mrs. Noah H. Webster for $13 a week?"

GAS ASPHYXIATES

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—J. R. White, local manager of the French Telegraph and Cable company, was found dead in his room early today, by his wife. Death was due to asphyxiation by gas.

Mrs. White was saved from a probable death by Jack, a pet bulldog, who smelled the gas and awoke her.
 White came here from New York in 1900.

WILL DO OWN WRITING

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—After supplying local color for short stories, "moving picture scenario and melodrama" for these many years, the working girl is to do her own writing. The women's trading union here has opened classes under the direction of competent instructors, to teach short story writing and scenario production to working girls.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—Drink sales slumped heavily today as a result of the new regulation prohibiting treating in London and neighborhood under penalty of $500 fine and six months in prison. Violations were few.

KAZAN
 By James Oliver Curwood

The man stopped paddling.
 "You're not sorry—Joan?" he asked.

They were drifting past the point now, and the scent of Gray Wolf came to Kazan's nostrils, rousing him, and bringing a low whine from his throat.

"You're not sorry—we're going?"
 Joan shook her head.

"No," she replied. "Only I've—always lived here—in the forests—and they're—home!"
 The point with its white finger of sand was behind them now. And Kazan was standing rigid, facing it.
 The man called to him, and Joan lifted her head. She, too, saw the point, and suddenly the babiche leash slipped from her fingers, and a strange light leaped into her blue eyes as she saw what stood at the end of that white tip of sand. It was Gray Wolf. Her blind eyes were turned toward Kazan. At last Gray Wolf, the faithful, understood. Scent told her what her eyes could not see.
 Kazan and the man-smell were together. And they were going—going —going—

"Look!" whispered Joan.
 The man turned. Gray Wolf's forefeet were in the water. And now, as the canoe drifted farther and farther away, she settled back on her haunches, raised her head to the sun which she could not see and gave her last long wailing cry for Kazan.

The canoe lurched. A tawny body shot through the air—and Kazan was gone.

The man reached forward for his rifle. Joan's hand stopped him. Her face was white.

"Let him go back to her! Let him go—let him go!" she cried. "It is his place—with her."

And Kazan reaching the shore, shook the water from his shaggy hair and looked for the last time toward the woman. The canoe was drifting slowly around the first bend. A moment more and it had disappeared.
 Gray Wolf had won.

CHAPTER X.
THE DAYS OF FIRE.

From the night of the terrible fight with the big gray lynx on the top of the Sun Rock, Kazan remembered less and less vividly the old days when he had been a sledge-dog, and the leader of a pack. He would never quite forget them, and always there would stand out certain memories from among the rest, like fires cutting the blackness of night. But as man dates events from his birth, his marriage, his freedom from a bondage, or some foundation-step in his career, so all things seemed to Kazan to begin with two tragedies which had followed one fast upon the other after the birth of Gray Wolf's pups.

The first was the fight on the Sun Rock, when the big gray lynx had blinded his beautiful wolf mate for all time, and had torn her pups into pieces. He in turn had killed the lynx. But Gray Wolf was still blind.
 Vengeance had not been able to give her sight. She could no longer hunt with him, as they had hunted with the wild wolf-packs out on the plain, and in the dark forests. So at thought of that night he always snarled, and his lips curled back to reveal his inch-long fangs.

The other tragedy was the going of Joan, her baby and her husband.
 Something more infallible than reason told Kazan that they would not come back. Brightest of all the pictures that remained with him was that of the sunny morning when the woman and the baby he loved, and the man he endured because of them, had gone away in the canoe, and often he would go to the point, and gaze longingly down-stream, where he had leaped from the canoe to return to his blind mate.

So Kazan's life seemed now to be made up chiefly of three things: his hatred of everything that bore the scent or mark of the lynx, his grieving for Joan and the baby, and Gray Wolf. It was natural that the strongest passion in him should be his hatred of the lynx, for not only Gray Wolf's blindness and the death of the pups, but even the loss of the woman and the baby he laid to that fatal struggle on the Sun Rock. From that hour he became the deadliest enemy of the lynx tribe. Wherever he struck the scent of the big gray cat he was turned into a snarling demon, and his hatred grew day by day, as he became more completely a part of the wild.

He found that Gray Wolf was more necessary to him now than she had ever been since the day she had defied the wolf-pack for him. He was three-quarters dog, and the dog-part of him demanded companionship.
 There was only Gray Wolf to give him that now. They were alone.
 Civilization was four hundred miles south of them. The nearest Hudson's Bay post was sixty miles to the west.
 Often, in the days of the woman and the baby, Gray Wolf had spent her nights alone out in the forest, waiting and calling for Kazan. Now it was Kazan who was lonely and uneasy when he was away from her side.

In her blindness Gray Wolf could no longer hunt with her mate. But gradually a new code of understanding grew up between them, and through her blindness they learned many things that they had not known before. By early summer Gray Wolf could travel with Kazan, if he did not move too swiftly. She ran at his flank, with her shoulder or muzzle touching him, and Kazan learned not to leap, but to trot. Very quickly he found that he must choose the easiest trails for Gray Wolf's feet. When

To Start Tomorrow Morning at 8:00 O'clock Mass Read by Father Kiernan of of Reedsburg

Forty hours' devotion at St. James church will be opened Tuesday morning at eight o'clock mass, when the sermon will be delivered by the Rev.
Father Eugene Kiernan of Reeds-burg, Wis. The devotion will endure through Thursday evening, when the closing sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Father A. B. C.
Dunn of Eau Claire.

Vespers and a benediction at 7:45 with a sermon by Father John Sherman, pastor of the Cathedral at Winona, will comprise the Tuesday evening exercises. Father Pape of St.
Joseph's Cathedral will deliver the sermon Wednesday night.

B. E. LOCOMOTIVE HOLDS RECEPTION IN LOCAL YARDS

Hundreds of La Crosse People See Giant Electrical Humper Which Will Climb Mountains

IS FIRST OF FIFTY BIG ONES

Will Replace Mallet Compounds on Mountain Divisions of the Milwaukee Coast Extension

B. E. Locomotive held a reception in the north side yards of the Milwaukee road yesterday afternoon, which was attended by hundreds of local people. "B. E." stands for "biggest electric." It may be said.
The guest of honor at the reception was a giant electrical engine, the biggest ever built, which passed through La Crosse yesterday enroute to the mountain division of the Milwaukee's coast extension.

B. E. Locomotive is the first of fifty of his pals which will come through La Crosse at brief intervals on their way to service on the 440 miles of track between Harlowtown, Mont., and Avery, Idaho. They will will climb, when in service, the Rocky mountain divide and the Belt mountain summit among other peaks, the first having an elevation of 6,300 feet and the latter of 5,700.

To Replace Mallet Compounds. The new engines resemble large "nail cars, 112 feet, 8 engines. The entire number of engines will be in use sometime in November, and are expected to effect an enormous increase in efficiency and economy of operation. They are designed to do the work now being done too expensively by huge Mallet compound engines, two of which are necessary to pull heavy freight trains up the grades of the Belt and Bitter Root ranges.

The new locomotives are the first to be constructed for railroad service with direct current motors, designed to carry a potential of as high as 3,000 volts. Each locomotive weighs 260 tons, and has a continuous capacity greater than that of any steam locomotive ever built. One locomotive of this type can "snake" a train weighing 2,500 tons up a one per cent grade, with no difficulty, with the aid of its 3,400 horsepower.

The locomotives are designed to save track wear by minimizing the vertical and horizontal blows of the drive wheels through the use of a separate motor, twin geared to each pair of drive wheels, fifty-two inches in diameter, and placed ten feet apart. The cab extends practically the entire length of the locomotive, and although only one man is required to operate the mechanism, two men constitute the crew, one being on hand for emergency.

Here are some of the most striking advantages of the electric locomotive:

The Many Advantages
It operates with the highest efficiency in the coldest weather when steam locomotives often freeze up.

It returns by "regeneration" a large part of the power used in running up hill during the corresponding run down hill.

It requires inspection only once in every 2,000 miles of travel, whereas the steam locomotive must be overhauled at the end of each division.

It uses no coal, requires no water and has no ashes to dump.

It does away with fuel trains and clears the tracks for traffic that pays dividends.

A steam locomotive waiting at a division point consumes eighty per cent of the fuel it uses in actual service, whereas the electric locomotive when idle consumes no power.

The direct current electric locomotive, in fact, bids fair to revolution-

CROWDS ATTEND
OPENING PROGRAM

Dunbar and Turner's Eccentric Comedy Just a Trifle the Best of Five Clever Acts

Messrs. Rosenstein and Burford, heretofore high-spots in "movies" at the Bijou, have embarked in high class vaudeville at the La Crosse theater, and their initial performance—given at the matinee hour yesterday to a well filled house—was an unqualified success—both by box office standards and those of its patrons. The new vaudeville is booked through the Western Vaudeville Managers' association, which handles the best vaudeville played on the Pacific coast and in large cities in the western third of the United States.

Dunbar and Turner, eccentric comedians, have just a trifle the best of the five clever acts, all offering a world of variety, fun and bits of seriousness here and there from start to finish. Dunbar and Turner sing, joke and dance. They hold attention.
The feminine half of the act is a scream and her partner makes her jump to secure her quota of attention. Their act hails direct from the Chicago Hippodrome.

Guerra and Carmen offer a real treat to lovers of clever violin and harp music. The fiddling of Guerra is in a class by itself, and the musician's appearance is striking. His music is at times teasing. Playing a snatch here or there. Playing an American folk song from an old monies on a song in difficult har-sudden the "E" string, he swings it to a trill from some favorite opera. Miss Carmen plays the harp in an inimitable manner. They hold the stage alone at times and then offer selections together. The matinee audience yesterday refused for several minutes to allow them to leave the stage.

"The Great De Lasso" opens the bill. He is not one but two men, twins, from their resemblance. The surprise of their duality does not come until near the end of the act, when the audience is at wits-end wondering at the speed of the changes. De Lasso does a novelty acrobatic and contortion act hard to equal.

"Happy's Million," a short clever sketch of a Quaker maid and a "cowman" by William Morrow and company is featured by Mr. Morrow's interpretation of "The Laughing Song."

Huling's Seals, a band of trained denizens of the ocean closes the bill.
It is a remarkable animal act, with the seals walking the tight wire, playing catch, and performing extraordinary feats of juggling.

ize railway transportation methods, because, while the "juice" to be used in the opening stretch of electrification on the St. Paul road is to be furnished by Montana water power companies, the road owns enormous coal resources on its own lands and it appears even now a demonstrable fact that coal can be converted into electrical power and fed to locomotives of the new type more economically than it can be used direct in the production of steam power.

The High School Employment Bureau is a success. All students who have been sent out under its supervision have found courteous treatment from their employers and housewives and business men have had adequate help with windows, furnaces, rugs and floors. It has been a source of much pleasure to the members of the faculty in charge of the employment bureau to see how harmoniously employers and high school students "got together."

Several incidents have made this new project interesting and worthwhile.

One boy made an appointment to help a woman with washing some storm windows. This was to be done on Saturday morning at nine o'clock.
When this boy went home he found that his sister had made an arrangement for him to peddle bills on the same Saturday morning. What did he do? Did he lose one job and keep the other? No—indeed. He arose at five a. m. said Saturday morning—peddled the bills and arrived at the home of the lady of the windows in time to earn nearly one dollar that forenoon.

Another boy had the opportunity of working at the fair during the week it was held. How could he work and go to school, too? That was a problem! How did he manage, you ask me. He wrote out his work and handed it in daily and because he was regularly a good student his teachers gladly helped him with his plan. He earned more than eleven dollars that week.

Does this not seem of much use—members of the High school alumni?
Will you not employ high school students when you can and thus help others to be members of the L. C.
H. S. Alumni association.

WOULD GO BACK THREE CENTURIES

BERLIN, via Sayville, Oct. 11.— Attributing Russia's present crisis to "Jewish treason," the activity of Free Masons, and the "pernicious influence" of the late Count Witte, the Russian aristocracy and a group of Moscow merchants have prepared a petition to the czar to restore general conditions and institutions of the early seventeenth century.

The petition predicts that Russia will return to "the old-fashioned customs of the ancient Moscovite empire and become a land of orthodox Slavs."

WOMEN SAVE $5 USING GASOLINE

Dry clean your dresses, suits, silks, yokes, gloves, draperies, etc.

Save $5 to $10 by doing your own dry cleaning. Here is a simple and inexpensive way to clean and brighten children's coats suits, caps, woolen garments, Swiss, lawn, organdie and chiffon dresses, kid gloves and shoes, furs, neckties, ribbons, sinks, satins, lace, yokes, silk shirtwaists, draperies, rugs, in fact, any and everything that would be ruined with soap and water.

Get two ounces of solvite at any drug store and put it in two gallons of gasoline, where it readily dissolves. Then put in the goods to be cleaned. After a little rubbing out they come looking as clean and fresh as new. You will find nothing fades, shrinks or wrinkles, requiring no pressing.

Any woman can do home dry cleaning in a few moments at little cost and save lots of money. It is as simple and easy as laundering, and you can't make a mistake. Your grocer or any garage will supply the gasoline, and your druggist will sell you two ounces of solvite which is simply a gasoline soap. Then a wash boiler or large dishpan completes your home dry cleaning outfit.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The W. C. T. U. will be entertained Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. R. Edmonds, 2125 Madison street.

The ladies of Germania society will give an apron bazaar Wednesday afternoon at Germania hall to aid the German war orphans. Coffee will be served during the afternoon.

LINEN SHOWER

Mrs. Edward Olson entertained at a linen shower Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Tillie Lamprich. The decorations were elaborate and artistic, consisting of fall flowers and foliage. The invited guests were Mrs. F. Swan, Mrs. P. Vidani, and the Misses Esther Johnson, Mae Kachel, Emma Stellick, Lucile Huebner, Bertie and Emma Siange, Jennie McCool, Mabel and Lulu Oelshig.

MISS LAMPRICH MARRIED

Miss Tillie Dora Lambrich and Dr. G. N. Cohen were quietly married at the German Lutheran parsonage Saturday evening. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock, the Rev. Julius T. Gamm officiating. After the ceremony the bride couple returned to the home of the bride, where an elaborate luncheon was served, at which only relatives were present. Dr. and Mrs. Cohen left on the midnight train for a trip to Milwaukee and Chicago. They will be at home to friends the latter part of the month at 409 South Eighth street.

SOCIAL BRIEFS

Miss Mary Fehrenbach of New York City, Charles Fehrenbach of Cleveland, O., and Mrs. Lou Kidder of St. Paul, were week-end guests of Mrs. L. T. Campbell of south Fifth street.

naeular," is the subject of his address. He will return to the city Friday night.

Find "Stolen" Boat

A sixteen foot launch and detachable motor, the property of George Oeltjander, 1202 Avon street, was found lodged against a wing dam opposite Dakota this morning. The owner missed his boat from the landing at Richmond, Wis., Saturday morning, and thought that thieves had stolen it. It is believed the boat drifted from insecure moorings.

Police Are Lonesome

Central police station was a dreary place last night. The desk sergeant, Wendling, threatened to quit for lack of company. For the first time in months there was not a single arrest. Two intoxicated men were arrested Saturday night and sent out of town yesterday morning.

New Truck for Water Dept. Employees of the city water department were this morning testing out a light auto truck. The purchase was authorized by the council at its last meeting.

Schultz is Sentenced

Henry Schultz, who was arrested by the local police with a shotgun, three watches and a receipt for the Winona high bridge on his person, pleaded guilty before Judge Somsen at Winona Saturday morning to a charge of petit larceny. He was fined $50 with the alternative of twenty days in the county jail. He chose the latter.

TOMAH MAN ALMOST VICTIM OF INSANE ST. LOUIS SCHEMER

W. F. Abbott of St. Louis Shows F. W. Hahn of Tomah How to Get Rich; Court Finds Him Out

SCHEMER SENT TO MENDOTA

Working Check Game on First National Bank of Madison Is His Downfall; Hahn Makes Arrest

TOMAH, Wis., Oct. 11.—(Special)—An attempt of an insane man who says he is W. F. Abbott of St. Louis, Mo., to work a "get-rich-quick" game on F. W. Hahn, prominent real estate dealer of Tomah, resulted last week in committing the would-be schemer to Mendota Insane asylum. Abbott went under the aliases of Harrington Woods, Springfield, Ill., and W. Waldren, Springfield, Ill., and says his parents live at Warrens, Wis.

During the early part of September, Mr. Hahn received a letter signed "W. Waldren," from Springfield, Ill., offering him a reward of $10 for the address of F. W. Hahn. The letter stated that Mr. Hahn had fallen heir to an estate in New York City valued at $25,000 and that the writer had been employed to locate Hahn. The letter also stated that the money was in the hands of Harrington Woods, a Springfield attorney and would be turned over to Hahn.

Hahn Did Not Fall

The station agent wired the desired information, and within a few days, Abbott arrived in Tomah. Mr. Hahn told Abbott that he placed no faith in his story and that he would invest no money in Abbott's scheme.

Shortly after this Mr. Hahn received a communication from the law firm of Graves and Masters of Sparta to the effect that they had a client who had $50,000 to invest either in one mortgage or by the purchase of such securities that Mr. Hahn and Mr. Burkey, his business partner might have. The client of the Sparta attorneys subsequently proved to be the same man that approached Mr. Hahn with the legacy scheme. This time he represented himself as Harrington Woods, Springfield attorney. Authorities were placed on his trail but he could not be found.

About a week ago, Mr. Hahn received a telephone message from Abbott. He was then talking from Milwaukee. He again broached the New York estate plan to Mr. Hahn and asked him to meet him in Milwaukee at the Hotel Martin. Abbott assured Mr. Hahn that he had the money and would turn it over to him.

Mr. Hahn entrained for Milwaukee and met Abbott. The insane swindler handed over two checks drawn on the First National Bank of Springfield, Ill. One was for the sum of $1,500 and the other for $23,50. Both were signed by Harrington Woods. Abbott requested Mr. Hahn to endorse over to him the smaller of the checks, "as a matter of custom under the circumstances," but the request was refused.

Throws Abbott off Track

Mr. Hahn then told Abbott, who represented himself then as "Waldren" that he was going to Racine. But instead he went to Madison, and from there to Springfield. There he learned from the Springfield bank that the checks were fraudulent. Mr. Hahn wired Milwaukee police to arrest Abbott, but he could not then be found.

Mr. Hahn then returned to Madison and was advised by officers of the First National bank of that city that someone using the name of F. W. Hahn had written them advising that he (Hahn) had just closed a large land deal and that checks to the amount of $25,000 would come to the bank from Attorney H. J. Masters of Sparta.

Two days later Abbott presented himself at the Madison banking establishment, representing himself as "Hahn" and offering three checks, all purported to be signed by Attorney Masters. They were for sums of $2,000, $3,000 and $20,000, all drawn to Mr. Hahn and endorsed by him ready for cashing. He stated to the cashier that he wished to deposit the larger checks and would cash the smaller one.

"Central" Makes Good

When asked by the Madison bank for identification, he phoned the Warrens bank of Tomah, still representing himself as Mr. Hahn. He endeavored the bankers here to have the Madison bankers waive identification and cash the check.

Miss Goldie Shultz, wide-awake "central" here, overheard the long-distance conversation. The bank officers did not recognize the voice and they conferred with Miss Shultz, and the answer went back over the wire to Madison that "Hahn" was not Mr. Hahn of Tomah.

Yes; S. S. S. Is Purely Vegetable Nature's Safe Blood Treatment

Known for 50 Years as the Best Remedy for Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Skin Diseases.

Scientists have discovered that the forest and the field are abundantly supplied with vegetation of various kinds, that furnish the ingredients for making a remedy, for practically every ill and ailment of mankind. Medicines made from roots, herbs, and barks which Nature has placed at the disposal of man, are better than strong mineral mixtures and concoctions. Mineral medicines work dangerously on the delicate parts of the system, especially the stomach and bowels, by eating out the lining membrane, producing chronic dyspepsia and often entirely ruining the health.

S. S. S. is guaranteed to be a pure, vegetable remedy. It is made entirely of gentle-acting, healing, purifying roots, herbs and barks, possessing properties that build up all parts of the system, in addition to removing all impurities and poisons from the blood. S. S. S. is a safe treatment for Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison, and all disorders of the blood. It cleanses the entire system and it's permanent. Get S. S. S. at any drug store. S. S. S. is a standard remedy recognized everywhere as the greatest blood anti-date ever discovered. If yours is a peculiar case write to S. S. S. Co., Atlanta, Ga.

bank and the capital police were requested to arrest him. He had again disappeared.

When Mr. Hahn heard of Abbott's latest scheme, he did a little detective work himself, with the result that he caught Abbott on a Madison street corner. Abbott was subsequently landed in Mendota. He says he is forty-two years of age, and that his crooked operations were begun when he himself lost a big sum in a similar way.

NORMAL COURSE

OPENS TONIGHT

Zoellner Quartet to Render Remarkable Program of Chamber Music

This evening there is offered to the public a concert of unusual merit, constituting the opening number of the Normal Lecture course.
This is to be given by the Zoellner String quartet, an organization that is noted for presenting each year, in the larger musical centers of the country, interesting novelties in the field of chamber music. Says one critic, "their program is a gem of the program maker's art."

The course contains another musical number, that to be rendered by Miss Margaret Keyes. When Miss Keyes was singing with the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, it was said that "When the mantle of Madame Schumann-Heink is ready to fall upon other shoulders, it can do no better than select the shoulders of Margaret Keyes."

Then there are to be lectures, by Dudley Crafts Watson of the Milwaukee Art association and by G. O.
Shields, an interesting nature photographer. These will be illustrated.
A recital by Mrs. Isabel Garghill Beecher and a lecture by one of England's most prominent poets—John Masfield—constitute other strong numbers of the course.

"LUCKY BALDWIN" TO SPEAK HERE AT MISSION MEET

Former King of New York Strong-arm Gang Is Noted for Severity of Argument

BEAT UP HIS SCOFFING PAL

Named for Famous California Plunger Because He Managed to Keep Out Jail

People who are inclined to look up the silver and hang onto the family Bible while "Lucky Baldwin" is preaching in our midst, would do well not to acquaint "Lucky" with their suspicions, lest he "argue" the matter.

For it is told of "Lucky Baldwin" that his argument is terrible in its severity. "Lucky" (Christopher Baldwin) was king of the strong-arm gang that live by loot in the depths of New York city. "Lucky" was converted in a mission, and began his evangelical career by seeking to convert his pal, Friend Pal met the appeal with derision, whereupon "Lucky" used the only argument he knew. He beat his friend terribly.

"Now do you believe Christ died to save you?" he demanded.
The victim discreetly confessed his conviction and meekly followed "Lucky Baldwin" to the mission.

He was termed "Lucky Baldwin," after the California plunger, because while a "big operator" in the underworld he never received anything worse than a "vag" sentence.
But "Lucky Baldwin" will tell all about it at the first annual convention of the Central Western District of the Fraternal Union of Gospel Missions, to be held in this city, October 17 to 19. The workers come from the states bordering Iowa. Fifteen delegates are assured and the number may exceed twenty.

MIGHTY ALEXANDER WEAKENS IN LAST FRAME OF CONTEST

sacrifice fly to Paskert in center field. "Spoke" came home standing up. After that the game settled down to a pretty pitching duel. Alexander was in hot water just once, and was saved by probably the freest play ever seen in a world's series. Speaker again was the trouble maker. It was his second hit, a hit over short.
Hobby came up with orders to sacrifice, and dumped the ball on the edge of the plate. It looked like a foul, and he never moved. But O'Loughlin called it fair, and Burns threw to Bancroft, who, in turn threw to Luderus and the first double play of the series was recorded.

More than 40,000, rising tier on tier until it seemed they almost met the sky, saw the Red Sox and Phillies resume their quest of a world's championship this afternoon in the most magnificent ball park in the world. It was the biggest baseball crowd in the biggest baseball park. Seemingly far in the distance loomed the walls of the park, over which it would seem impossible for a batted ball to carry. Not a man in batting practice succeeded in putting the ball anywhere near the wall on the fly. But if a ground ball ever got by a fielder it will be a homer sure, there is nothing to stop it.

The Red Sox showed their fear of alien ground by taking the field at noon and working steadily for two hours. Alexander was the only Philly pitcher to take any batting practice. Ten minutes before game time, Leonard and Alexander started warming up.

Manager Carrigan himself dominated the shin guards and pad as the game time drew near. Bill is credited with making a pitcher out of Leonard and is the only man who can catch him with any degree of success. The crowd gave Carrigan a hand as he appeared.

Umpires Evans behind plate; O'Loughlin on bases; Klem and Rigler on foul lines.

First Inning

PHILADELPHIA—Stock up. Ball

Cravath took a healthy swing for his third strike.

BOSTON—Hooper up. Ball one.
Ball two. Strike one, called. Hooper fled to Cravath. Scott up. Ball one.
Ball two. Foul, strike one. Foul, strike two. Fanned, swung. Speaker up. Foul, strike one. Ball one. Ball two. Speaker fled to Paskert. NO RUNS. NO HITS. NO ERRORS.

Alexander seemingly started off to pitch the same sort of ball he pitched Friday. He did not seem to be putting much on the ball. He was working slow and easily and gave every indication that he was conserving his strength.

Second Inning

PHILADELPHIA—Luderus up.
Ball one. Ball two. Strike one, called. Foul, strike two. Foul, fanned, swung. He swung hard at the last one. Whitted up. Strike one, called. Ball one. Ball two. Foul to Hobby. Niehoff up. Ball one.

ODDFELLOWS OF NATION GATHER AT STATE CAPITAL

More Than 200 Delegates on Hand Early and Twice as Many Are Expected

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 11.—More than 200 delegates to the annual grand encampment of the Order of I. O. O. F., which starts a three day meet here, today have arrived in the city this morning. It is expected that late trains will double the number.

The program today consists of welcoming the delegates and an exhibition by the patriarchs militant, the military order of Odd Fellows.
On Tuesday the program will be featured by a meeting in the assembly chamber, at which Governor Phillip will address the visiting Odd Fellows. The custom of conferring the decoration of chivalry for work done for the order will then be conferred. A ball at the capitol will conclude the entertainment.

Niehoff popped to Scott. NO RUNS.
NO HITS. NO ERRORS.

Leonard was going great guns. He had a world of speed and cut the ball over the corners like a rifle shot.

BOSTON—Hoblitzell up. Ball one. Ball two. Strike one, called.
Foul, strike two. Hobby out. Alexander unassisted. Alexander ran over to the base line and picked up a roller tagging him out. Lewis up.
Ball one. Ball two. Lewis singled down left field foul line. Gardner up. Strike one, called. Gardner up. Lewis out stealing. Burns to Bancroft. Gardner fled to Whitted.
NO RUNS. ONE HIT. NO ERRORS.

Third Inning

PHILADELPHIA—Burns up.
Ball one. Strike one, called. Ball two. Burns singled to center. Alexander up. Alexander got a great hand. Ball one. Foul, strike one.
Ball two. Alexander safe at first when Hobby dropped Gardner's throw. Burns was safe at second.
Hobby gets error. Stock up. Ball one. Stock sacrificed. Gardner to Hobby. Both runners advancing. Bancroft up. Bancroft singled, scoring Burns. He took second on the throw in. Alexander on third. Paskert up. Ball one. Paskert fled to Barry.
Alexander was held at third.
Barry made a wonderful catch with his back to the ball. Cravath up.
Strike one, swung. Ball one. Cravath fled to Lewis. ONE RUN. TWO HITS. ONE ERROR.

BOSTON—Barry up. Ball one.
Foul, strike one. Barry fled to Paskert. Carrigan up. Ball one.
Strike one, foul. Strike two, called.
Ball two. Foul. Ball three. Walked. Leonard up. Foul, strike one.
Ball one. Ball two. Strike two, called. Leonard foul ball. Whitted tried hard for a long foul on Leonard, but missed. Foul, Foul, fanned, swung. Hooper up. Strike one, called. Ball one. Alexander kept called. Ball one. Hooper popped to Carrigan. Hooper popped to Stock.
NO RUNS. NO HITS. NO ERRORS.

Seemingly superhuman support was all that prevented the Phils making three runs. Barry ran into center and took Paskert's high one and a moment later Lewis raced to the left field wall and in one final convulsive effort speared what appeared to be a triple off Cravath's bat.

Fourth Inning

PHILADELPHIA—Luderus up.
Ball one. Ball two. Strike one, called.
Foul, strike two. Fanned. Whitted up. Ball one. Ball two. Foul, strike one. Whitted fled to Hooper.
Niehoff up. Ball one. Niehoff popped to Scott. NO RUNS. NO HITS. NO ERRORS.

BOSTON—Scott up. Ball one. Ball two. Strike one, called. Scott fled to Paskert. Speaker up. Speaker tripled down right field foul line.
The crowd raised the roof. Hobby up. Ball one. Foul, strike one.
Foul, strike two. Hobby fled to Paskert. Speaker scoring after the catch. Lewis up. Strike one, called.
Lewis popped to Paskert. ONE RUN. ONE HIT. NO ERRORS.

Speaker's hit was a low, writhing grounder which rolled straight down the right field line. Cravath was playing too far off to get it.

Fifth Inning

PHILADELPHIA—Burns up. Ball
one. Ball two. Ball three. Strike one called. Strike two called. Burns out. Leonard to Hobby. Alexander up. Strike one, called. Alexander up. Leonard to Hobby. Stock up.
Foul, strike one. Strike two, swung.
Ball one. Foul. Ball one. Ball two. Ball three. Stock fled to Hooper. NO RUNS. NO HITS. NO ERRORS.

Hooper made a dash into Speaker's territory when it appeared for a minute that Stock's high fly was about to fall safe. He grabbed it at his shoe.

BOSTON—Gardner up. Ball one.
Ball two. Ball three. Strike one, called. Strike two called. Gardner fled to Paskert. Barry up. Foul, strike one. Barry fled to Whitted on a line drive. It was a terrific shot.
Carrigan up. Strike one, called. Carrigan fled to Paskert. NO RUNS.
NO HITS. NO ERRORS.

Alexander showed marvelous control when he forced Gardner to pop to Paskert after getting himself in the hole with three balls right on the jump. Paskert made his seventh put-out of the game on Carrigan's high one.

Sixth Inning

PHILADELPHIA—Bancroft up.
Ball one. Strike one, called. Foul, strike two. Bancroft popped to Carrigan. Bill ran nearly to first base to take the high one. Paskert up.
Strike one. Ball one. Paskert out.

GALESVILLE FIRM APPEALS ITS CASE

Judge Hunt's Ruling Against Them in Check Case Is Taken to Circuit Court

The Gale Manufacturing company, a Trempealeau county concern today appealed to circuit court the decision of Justice of the Peace Clinton W.
Hunt in its suit against the Batavian National bank. The manufacturing company lost in an attempt to regain the sum of $135 which a former employee, S. S. Dunlevy, collected on a check made payable to the company by the Peoples' State Bank of Galesville.

Dunlevy, a discharged agent for the concern, came into possession of a check intended for the company, which he at one time represented.
He brought the check to La Crosse and had it cashed at the Batavian National bank. The bank secured the money on the paper, and Dunlevy was arrested here and charged with embezzlement of company funds.

He was subsequently tried and found guilty by Judge John Brindley.
Sentence was withheld and he was paroled to the state board of control.

Barry to Hobby. Cravath up. Strike one, called. Ball one. Cravath out, Gardner to Hobby. NO RUNS. NO
HITS. NO ERRORS.

Up to this time the Phillies' infield was having a snap. Not an assist had been credited to one of the inner works and with one exception all of the balls had either been hit to outfield or into the air for easy out.

BOSTON—Leonard up. Ball one.
Strike one, swung. Ball two. Strike two, swung. Fanned, swung. Hooper up. Ball one. Hooper out, Luder-us to Alexander. Alexander made a quick run to cover the box on the slow roller. Scott up. Strike one, called. Ball one. Scott fouled to Burns. NO RUNS. NO HITS. NO ERRORS.

This probably was Alexander's fastest inning. He disposed of the Sox with less than a dozen pitched balls. He was going strong in both innings.

Seventh Inning

PHILADELPHIA—Luderus up.
Strike one, swung. Ball one. Strike two, swung. Fanned for third time.
He swung hard at every offering.
Whitted up. Strike one, called. Whitted out. Scott to Hobby. Niehoff up.
Strike one, called. Strike two, swung. Fanned on three pitched balls. NO RUNS. NO HITS. NO ER-RORS.

Leonard disposed of Luderus and Niehoff on six pitched balls. They swung at every one of them and swung hard. His curve was breaking fast and his fast one had a jump.

BOSTON—Speaker up. Ball one.
Foul, strike one. Foul, strike two.
Speaker singled to left. Bobby up.
Ball one. Bobby hit into double play, Burns to Niehoff to Luderus.
It was a short bunt in front of the plate. Lewis up. Strike one, called.
Ball one. Lewis singled to the infield. Gardner up. Ball one. Strike one, called. Foul, strike two. Garner fled to Cravath. NO RUNS. NO HITS. NO ERRORS.

Burns showed good head work on Ho's break ball in this inning. It looked like a foul, but Burns saw it was inside and shot to second.

Eighth Inning

PHILADELPHIA—Burns up. Ball
one. Burns fled to Speaker. Alexander up. He got a "hand." Ball one.
Strike one, called. Foul, strike two.
Ball one. Fanned, swung. Stock up.
Stock up. Stock fled to Speaker. NO RUNS. NO HITS. NO ERRORS.

Dutch still had the Phils' number in this inning. He appeared to be working easy and was exceedingly fresh.

BOSTON—Barry up. Ball one.
Foul, strike one. Barry popped to Bancroft. Carrigan up. Strike one, swung. Foul, strike two. Ball one.
Fanned, swung. Leonard up. Leonard lined to Bancroft. NO RUNS.
NO HITS. NO ERRORS.

Dutch was given a great hand as he came to bat. Up to this time Speaker and Lewis were the only Sox to hit Alexander safely.

Ninth Inning

PHILADELPHIA—Bancroft up.
Foul, strike one. Bancroft out, Garner to Hobby. Paskert up. Ball one.
Paskert sent up a high foul to Carrigan, out. It was straight up in front of the plate. Cravath up. Strike one called. Ball one. Cravath out, Garner to Hobby. NO RUNS. NO HITS.
NO ERRORS.

Dutch put them over to Cravath and forced him to send over an easy bouncer down third base line.

BOSTON—Hooper up. Strike one called. Foul, strike two. Foul. Hooper singled to right. A solid smash and the crowd went to it. Scott up.
Ball one. Strike one, foul. Ball two.
Foul, strike two. Scott sacrificed, Niehoff to Luderus. Speaker up. Ball one. Ball two. Ball three. Speaker walked. Hobby up. Ball one. Strike one called. Ball two. Ball three.
Hobby out, Niehoff to Luderus, both runners advancing. Lewis up. Lewis singled, scoring Hooper.

SOPHS TREE HERMAN IN HIS NIGHTIE ON ROOMING HOUSE ROOF

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 11.—(Special.)—Caught in the room of his home at 502 North Henry street, by twenty-five howling Sophomores bent on mischief, Herman Hansen of La Crosse, a freshman at the University, escaped from his adversaries by climbing up a laundry chute in his "nightie." He finally found protection on the roof of the house, while enraged Sophs on the ground below dared him to give himself up.

The incident occurred at midnight just before the annual rush between the two lower classes. Had Hansen been caught, he would have been transported with a dozen or more of his classmates ten miles out into the country where the Sophomores had chartered a silo into which the Freshmen were thrown. There they remained securely locked, living on a bread and water diet, for eighteen hours when they were released too late to participate in the big class fracas.

"If England had declared her in-crisis, instead of holding back, I verily believe that the present war would have been averted," Superintendent L. P. Benezet, of the city schools, told the members and friends of the Open Forum at the Universalist church at the usual Sunday afternoon meeting yesterday, in an address on the economic and political development of the conditions leading up to the present European war.

A major portion of the troubled conditions in Europe today, he said, is due to the fact that the political divisions of the map do not correspond with the ethnic divisions.

The talk given by Mr. Benezet was delivered to a small but highly appreciative audience, and showed pains-taking effort and study, both in the construction of maps showing the political and racial conditions from the time of the rise of the Roman empire through to the present war.

The resignation of Fred Krone, owing to frequent absence from the city on Sunday afternoons, as president of the Open Forum was accepted. Moncena Dunn was elected to fill the vacancy.

Wars of Ambition
The wars between the nations were not brought about through hatred between the common people of the separate nations, but through the selfish desire of the governing leaders to satisfy their militaristic ambitions, he said.

He reviewed the history leading up to the actual taking of Alsace and Lorraine by Germany at the second attempt of Bismarck to crush France, and the slicing up of the Balkans by the great powers to their own advantages, placing people under governments where the political and ethnic conditions do not coincide.

Then came Wilhelm and his policy of African extension, and the institution of the contest with England for supremacy on the sea, and for the world's trade. Mr. Benezet related several minor squabbles relative to the African possessions of the two countries, which ended in backdown and ruffled the sensitive pride of the nations. They caused a growing desire to even up old scores, resulting directly in preparations for war which it was recognized must be waged, he said. Then started the headlong race for the top rung in the ladder of war preparedness.

Russia Caused Balkan War

That Russia fomented the first Balkan war in 1912 to secure certain Black sea ports, and that the great powers caused the second Balkan war between the four victorious little states in order to keep them from realizing the fruits of their victory was Mr. Benezet's declaration.

And then came the assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his morganic wife which touched off the European explosion. But even after the death of Francis Ferdinand, war might have been averted had England been downright in her declaration of willingness to fight at the outset, he declared.

DAMAGE DONE WHEN
FORD HITS AUTO

A badly bent front axle, a smashed left front fender and headlight on the Ford automobile of Levi Huntington, 1128 State street, and two holes stove in the tonneau and a battered fender to the car of W. H. Smith, Winona, comprised the net result of an auto collision shortly before 1:00 o'clock this afternoon at the corner of Sixth and Main streets. Huntington was driving south on Sixth street and turned down Main, while Smith and a friend were traveling west on Main street. The two machines collided when the brakes on the Winona machine refused to work. The Ford was thrown onto the sidewalk. No one was injured.

MEDICAL JOURNAL

Advices Doctors to Prescribe Vinol and Give Reasons Why.

"Doctor: You have many patients under your care at this season of the year especially, whom you may consider are in need of the nutritious, healing properties of cod liver oil; many people cannot digest or assimilate the ordinary cod liver oil preparations on account of their digestive disturbances.

It is for this reason we want to respectfully call your attention to Vinol—a cod liver preparation containing Cod Liver Peptone made from fresh cod livers and cod liver oil, (all oil eliminated), together with Iron Peptone, Beef Peptone, Iron and Ammonium Citrate, and pure Native Wine.

Vinol is non-secret and in our opinion, superior to old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions, because while it contains all the medicinal value they do, unlike them Vinol is deliciously palatable and agreeable to the weakest stomach.

We feel that medical practitioners who once prescribe Vinol will do so continuously, as under its treatment patients gain strength and put on flesh almost from the start."

cine and Surgery.

LA CROSSE MEN
HELP TO DEFEAT
MARQUETTE TEAM

Stavrum, Weimar and Gunderson Play Prominently; Biggest Score in History Is Made

Three La Crosse men helped Wisconsin pile up the largest score in her football history here Saturday, when Marquette's supposedly "strong" eleven was sent back to Milwaukee with the small end of an 85 to 0 count.

Stavrum, Weimar and Gunderson had opportunities to show what they could do. With the several dozen chances against the helpless opponents, it is hardly necessary to say that they did show up, and show up well.

Stavrum played through an entire half, and was directly responsible for two of Wisconsin's touchdowns, once when he recovered a punt fumbled by a Marquette back on the 40 yard line, and again when he caught a difficult 20 yard forward pass tossed to him by Quarterback Simpson on the 20 yard line. Gunderson replaced Pottinger at the beginning of the second half and remained in the fray until late in the fourth period.
Weimar was sent in at the start of the final quarter along with an entirely new backfield. His plunging

New York Stocks
NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Steel made a new high mark for the year at 83 and "bull" traders sent railroads up along with war orders stocks at the opening of the Stock exchange today.

At 83 Steel showed a gain since Saturday of 1½. General Motors advanced 8 points to 350. Bethlehem Steel sold at 445.

Railroad leaders were: Lehigh up 1½ at 155; New Haven up 1½ at 84½ and Southern Pacific up 1 at 98½.

Strength in Mexican Petroleum and American Smelting due to Carranza recognition featured the market. Four hundred thousand shares were sold in the opening hour. New Haven sold up as high as 89 and dropped back to 87½ at 11 o'clock.

Activity slackened around noon. Prices were somewhat under the morning's high figures.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—Unusually strong cables, together with record exports from Atlantic coast ports, stimulated buying today and wheat prices were very sharply higher. The opening at 1.03 and 1.04 represented over-Sunday advances of one cent and 1 1-8c. Later in the day prices went to 1.04 1-2 and 1.05 5-8.

Corn and oats were up with wheat. At the opening corn was up 3-8c and 1-8c above yesterday's close. Later it was up 5-8c and 3-4c over the opening. Provisions were higher on reduced receipts and strong buying.

GERMANS SUFFER BIG LOSS CLAIMS PARIS COMMUNIQUE

PARIS, Oct. 11.—Seven to eight thousand Germans fell in the kaiser's attempt to recapture lost positions at Loos and to the northward, announced the official communique issued here today.

Their bodies were left in the field before the allied lines, it was stated.

The principal assault was said to have been made by from three to four German divisions, totaling 60,000 to 80,000 men. They were completely repulsed and dispersed.

"There was a rather intense bombardment by the enemy's artillery," said the communique, "to the north of La Scarpe, in Champagne, on our secondary front in the Souain region Sunday night. Our batteries replied very effectively."

OPENING GAME OF WORLD'S SERIES; HOOPER MAKES FIRST HIT

Hooper, first man up in the world series, smashed a clean single through the box. Hooper, at the right, is seen rounding first, ready to take second if there seems to be a chance. Player in center is Red Sox coacher. Luderus, Phillie first baseman, seeing there isn't a chance for a play at first, is walking from the box at the left of the picture.

ALEXANDER STILL IS MORAN'S AGE IN BIG SERIES

BY FRED S. FERGUSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 11.—It is up to Grover Cleveland Alexander today to save the Phillies from being pushed over a precipice from which there would be small chance of a climb back within striking distance of the world's baseball title.

FANS DESERT THE RED SOX AND PHILS TO SEE KONEY AND HIS FEDERAL LEAGUERS

BARNSTORMERS ARE A LITTLE TOO MUCH FOR THE ATHLETES

Both Games Are Won by Margins of One Point; Koney Gets Four Hits

La Crosse, for a space of several hours, forgot all about the world's series. One fan in a dozen thought to talk about the Red Sox and the Phillies and the relative worth of Alexander and Foster, for Eddie Koney had his Federal leaguers here Saturday and Sunday and La Crosse fans turned out en masse to see them. The W. B. U. Athletes were their opponents.

Koney, with his star hurler, Knetzer, on the mound, took the game on Saturday, 1 to 0 and yesterday the visitors emerged with a one run margin, 5 to 4. The game was interesting and it is doubtful whether the Feds did not let themselves out. The Athletes played an uphill game throughout. Copsey, Krause and Anderson worked, but were a trifle too easy for the third circuit clouters. Koney contented himself with three bingles yesterday. Weisse and Williams took four-sevenths of the Athletes' hits, "Lump" sending one to the left field fence. He did the same stunt Saturday.

Burke and Evans threw for the barnstormers, alternating between the box and left field. Mique Malloy, Whales scout and magnate of Riverview, played at second base. His several pounds of avoiddups were given considerable exercise handling the throwse of Catcher Barry.

Knetzer was in fine form Saturday and had the Athletes waving at his offerings throughout the game, cutting large swaths in the chilly atmosphere. Fitzki, regular twirler

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed with Sulphur It Darkens so Naturally Nobody can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's treatment, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.

WITH THEIR PEP AND VIM THE RED SOX ARE FOR HIM

The Bostons Should Win Out in a Gallop for We All Know They're There with the Wallop

BY BERTON BRALEY
(Written for the United Press.)
NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The daring baseball prophet is often given Tophet if his prophecy should happen to be wrong, and the other prophets on him and the fans cry "Out upon him," and he's booed and he's hooted by the throng but in spite of all those chances of unpleasant circumstances if I fail to guess the way the wheel will spin, and in spite of fortune's fickle I will bravely bet a nickel that this Boston aggregation's going to win.

There are darned few pitchers grander than this Alexander who will doubtless face the Boston bunch today, but although the mighty "Grover" sure knows how to burn 'em over he's in need of SOME assistance in the fray.

"The most batters cannot find him," still he needs SOME hits behind him, and the Phillies are not hitting, up to date, while that bunch of Boston players is composed of pitcher-slayers who dislike to let a twister pass the plate.

Furthermore, I will adventure in the face of certain censure to assert that Boston fielding is the best.

Seems to me they have more vigor and are quicker on the trigger with a bit more pep and ginger, vim and zest.

So, although I may be later proved a bum prognosticator, (there are stranger things than that have come to pass), for the present the opinion of this humble rhyming minion is that Boston's aggregation has the class!

OPENING GAME A WALKAWAY FOR SPUH'S HOPEFULS

Second Team Is Put Into Game When Score Is Put Out of Sight

Weakened by the disability of three stars, Dickman, Terrace and Flannery, Winona normal bowed before the La Crosse warriors in a crushing defeat Saturday in the first game of the year for La Crosse. The adding machine registered a final count of sixty-six. The Minnesotans were completely outclassed in every department of the game, the greenness of some of the visitors being especially marked at times. So weak were they that they were unable to make their downs once during the forty-two minutes of play. On the other hand, La Crosse made their yardage at will, often punting on the first down that they might be drilled on the defense. At the end of the first quarter, La Crosse's ground gainers were removed, the second team back field playing, and at the beginning of the second half Spuh inserted almost all the second string men, twenty-six of the local boys assisting in the slaughter.

Chooses South Goal
Anticipating a hard struggle, Strum chose to defend the south goal when he won the toss, a noticeable wind blowing from the north. Strineman kicked off to Skemp on the forty-yard line and it was not two minutes before a touchdown had been made. Strum made six yards, Grausenick duplicated, and Feinberg made a nice run through the Winonaans for thirty yards more. Wachter then took his shot with the tackle play for fifteen and the touchdown was completed. La Fromboise kicked goal.

Strineman kicked off to La Fromboise, who was tackled on the seventy-yard line. Semp ducked down the field for forty-five yards. Grausenick went around right end for twenty more. Feinberg made five, and the second touchdown was gained. This was accomplished in just one minute.

So the game continued, touchdowns becoming monotonous. Strum put over two neat drop kicks from the twenty yard line in the course of the game when touchdowns could have been made just as well, and for variety Grausenick tackled one of his pals behind the visitors' goal for a safety in the last quarter.

Skemp Does Well at Quarter
Skemp and Strum both played at quarter and both did well. Skemp's work was especially surprising, for "Tommy" would rip up all the way from five to fifty yards in a run and he handled the eleven like a veteran. He has undoubtedly landed a permanent berth on the team.

When one considers the fact that the Winona normal has not had a football team for ten years, that there are at present only thirty-four men in the school, that much of this is green material, that three good men were out of the game Saturday, and that the entertainment furnished here was the first of the season, the showing of our neighbors was
